

The Project

THE KNEE is an exceptional 7-story commercial building on a prominent corner lot at the Spree in Berlin Charlottenburg. The building is a “Green Building” and has been awarded with the LEED Gold Certification for Sustainability. It is an angular structure with a slightly recessed ground floor for small-scale retail usage, as well as recessed staggered top floor.

Main access to the office spaces is from Gutenbergstraße via a spacious foyer, which connects the street and the landscaped courtyard. A central staircase and two elevators provide vertical access and connect all upper floors and the underground parking garage.
